November Lecture Luncheon Cracking the Humor Code Dr. Peter McGraw

Tuesday, November 11, 2014, 11:30 a.m.

Avalon Ballroom, 6185 Arapahoe Road, Boulder

(Reservations and payment due November 4.)

Marketing and Psychology Professor at CU Innovative Researcher

Director of Humor Research Lab (HuRL)

Dr. Peter McGraw, a marketing and psychology professor at CU, Boulder, will discuss the science of humor, his Humor Research Lab (HuRL), and his book, The Humor Code (co-authored with Joel Warner).

What makes things funny? Why do some jokes fail? How can you have a more humorous life? What is humor? Who has the bigger funny bone - men or women, Democrats or Republicans? Is laughter really the best medicine?

Do unhappy people make better comedians? Are some things too horrible to laugh at? How do you win The New Yorker cartoon caption contest? Why do we laugh at what we do?

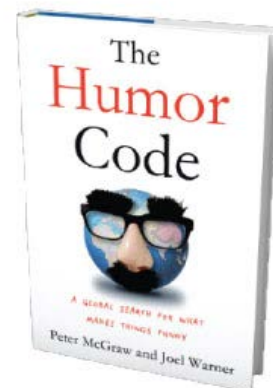

Dr. Peter McGraw has spanned the globe, from New York to Japan from Palestine to the Amazon conducting scientific humor experiments to discover the secret behind what makes things funny. With his team he directs the Humor Research Lab (aka HuRL) at the University of Colorado, Boulder. He is an expert in the interdisciplinary fields of emotion and behavioral decision theory. His research examines the interrelationship of judgment, emotion, and choice, with a focus on consumer behavior and public policy.

In his book, The Humor Code, he explains the benign violation theory. This theory proposes that humor occurs when, and only when, three conditions are satisfied: (1) a situation is a violation, (2) the situation is benign, and (3) both perceptions occur simultaneously.

Dr. McGraw has degrees from Rutgers University and Ohio State University. His post-doctoral training is from Princeton's Woodrow Wilson School. His work has been covered by the BBC, MS-NBC, Scientific American, Wall Street Journal, and Financial Times. Most recently, Dr. McGraw made the 2013 Stylish Scientist List (<http://www.future-ish.com/2011/10/stylishscientist.html>)

- probably because he likes to rock a sweater vest.

For more info about Dr. McGraw's book, go to <http://www.barnesandnoble.com/re-view/the-humor-code/#.U58YDtnT3k.email>. Dr. McGraw will autograph copies of his book, which are available at most local bookstores.

President's Message

Welcome to the transition time of Fall. As we move into the month of Thanksgiving, let us be grateful for all that we have and especially for the lack of floods or severe fires, which have been so devastating to Colorado in our recent past.

I hope those of you who attended the "Fly-over at the Fiske" enjoyed the event. We had a grand time. See photos on page three.

Our first Lecture Luncheon will be held at the Avalon Ballroom at 6185 Arapahoe Road in Boulder. This is not our usual location but, due to the restoration project of the Glenn Miller ballroom at the UMC, the CU Regents will be meeting in our usual UMC room 235 on the second Tuesday in November.

Please note that you can send a check (made out to UWC) to our hospitality chair for one or for multiple luncheons. If making out a check for multiple luncheons is easier for you (and saves postage) do please use the form to say for which luncheons your check is meant for and include any names of guests you are bringing. The luncheon registration form is available at the end of this newsletter and also on our website (www.boulderuwc.org – under MESSAGES and Forms).

Please note that if your check is only for you and no special diet is required, you can just note on your check that this is for the November Luncheon.

If you have a guest or diet needs, please let us know – the registration form would help, but a note with the check will also suffice. Click here for the luncheon registration form.

From the office of the CU President, Bruce Benson, there is a mention of a letter from the David Kassoy, husband of our Past President and New Member Chair Caryl Kassoy, which I wish to share.

I received an insightful letter recently from David Kassoy, Professor Emeritus of Mechanical Engineering at CU-Boulder. With the interesting perspective of a rocket scientist, Kassoy offered that the primary objective of higher education is to teach people to learn how to learn. He wrote, "A successful learner can cope with the ambiguities and challenges of life that many of us are familiar with. People with these capabilities contribute to the well-being of their families, their communities and the larger society in many different ways. They make their marks as diverse professionals, creative people, political, business, social and religious leaders, entertainers and athletes, among others.

Let us all "learn how to learn" as we continue in life.

Have a wonderful November.

UWC Directory and Handbook

UWC Membership Directory – November will include only paid members

The UWC Membership Directory was distributed electronically for the first time to all UWC members in September. It will be distributed monthly with updated information. The last page will have a list of new members and recent changes. A "Large Print" version of the electronic directory is available by email upon request from the Membership Directory Chair, Diana King (dianaking.boulder@gmail.com, 303-530-1860). If you have further suggestions or requests, please contact Diana. For those members without email, a hard copy will still be delivered by hand or by mail in the new format.

Recommendation: We encourage you to keep the electronic version on your computer – you can drag it onto your desktop and replace it monthly. It is not necessary for you to reprint the electronic directory each month. The directory and handbook will be produced in landscape (horizontal) format so that they can be printed, stapled in the upper left hand corner and folded in half in order to fit into a smaller space by a phone or in a purse.

Dues can be paid at any time, and you will be added to the Electronic Directory when you have paid. Please see the membership form on Page 11.

Fly-Over at the Fiske

Our Fly-Over at the Fiske was friendly and fun!

A big THANK YOU to Hazel's for the wine and beer donation!

Thank you to UMC Catering for providing delightful hors d'oeuvres.

Thank you to Karen Diamond, who handled all the checks for more than 150 attendees.

Thank you to our many greeters, who welcomed all the guests.

The Fiske lobby was comfortably crowded (the sign of a good party) during the reception.

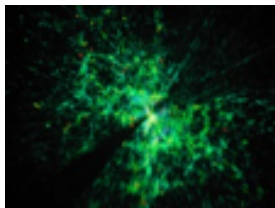

Fiske is part of one of the country's top departments studying astronomy, space, and planetary science. The University of Colorado's newly remodeled Fiske Planetarium is the most advanced in the US. It fully surrounds audiences with a 65 foot diameter digital video picture, with dazzling images and great sound.

The presentation by the Director of the Fiske, Doug Duncan, was marvelous.

If you want to see more of the Fiske Planetarium offerings, go to the website:
<http://fiske.colorado.edu/beta/>

Note that there will be a partial eclipse of the sun on Thursday, August 23rd, starting at 3:17 p.m. in Colorado. The Fiske has special glasses for sale for $2.50 to use to view the eclipse. (Do not use sunglasses.)

Tell Me More ...About the Wild Animal Sanctuary

This new column, which previewed in MESSAGES last month, provides our readers with current news about people and topics from our past UWC events, speakers, and scholarship winners. We'll answer "What's happening now with ..." or "How does the story continue?" or "Have you heard the latest about ..."

In October of 2010 Pat Craig, Executive Director of The Wild Animal Sanctuary (TWAS) in Keenesburg, Colorado captivated us with his Lecture Luncheon presentation about his organization's efforts to address the captive wildlife crisis and about the nearly 300 lions, tigers, bears, and other large carnivores that have found rescue and a home at The Wild Animal Sanctuary.

His account of the sanctuary resulted in our members making spontaneous contributions of hundreds of dollars before leaving the Lecture Luncheon. Our On the Road Again group scheduled an excursion to the sanctuary, and at least one of our members "adopted" a lion.

Shortly after Pat Craig's UWC lecture The Wild Animal Sanctuary, along with Animal Defenders International, began the momentous task of rescuing 25 abused and malnourished lions from circus captivity in Bolivia.

Preparation included the high speed construction of a new lion house – a 15,000 square foot biosphere where the lions could acclimate to a Denver winter - and enhancement of an 80 acre habitat that includes ponds, lakes, and underground dens. The 25 lions airlifted to safety have now been restored to health and are enjoying life in Keenesburg in four separate prides. Read more about the Bolivian Lion Rescue at <http://www.wildanimalsanctuary.org/news/bolivianlionrescue/bolivianlionrescue.html> You'll especially enjoy a heartwarming account of the one of the lion's happy dance upon his excitement at his new habitat and his first experience of freedom.

Animal Defenders International (ADI) has produced an award winning feature length film, Lion Ark, documenting the rescue. Through interviews, conversations, and real footage, this documentary tells the story of the events that led to the happy ending for 25 Bolivian lions now making their home in Keenesburg. The Wild Animal Sanctuary is presenting a special screening of this film as a fund raising event. which will be showing at eTown in Boulder on November 21. A second documentary, Mile High Jungle – Bolivian Rescue, will be shown there November 22. Each evening features a pre-show reception and a Q&A session with Pat Craig.

See information about reservations at <https://www.ETown.org/events/bolivian-lion-rescue-the-tail-behind-lion-ark/>.

Is there a topic, a speaker, an issue, or a scholarship winner that you know from UWC events or MESSAGES that calls out for an update? Do you have insider knowledge of one of our previous topics, speakers, issues, or scholarship winners that would be interesting to others? If so, please contact Kathy Randall (katherineran@gmail.com) for future "Tell Me More..." columns.

Benefits That Go With Your UWC Membership

Did you know that your UWC membership includes some extra benefits?

Benefits for active UWC members include:

1. A University of Colorado email account, which includes access to the Office of Information Technology HELP line for email connected problems;
2. A CU guest BuffOne card, which provides library borrowing privileges and option to apply cash which can be used for copy machines and discounted meals at Center for Community and UMC dining halls (RTD bus pass is NOT included; cost $5 per year); and
3. A free library card to borrow books through the University Libraries University Research Partners Program (as an alternative to a BuffOne card). There are some restrictions on use of BuffOne cards and library cards.

Contact Kathleen Salzberg (303-499-3128; kathleen.salzberg@colorado.edu) if interested in any of these benefits.

In Remembrance

The University Women's Club lost two long term members this summer, Dr. Joan Marie Knapp and Elinor Pollack Buchsbaum. We will miss both of them and remember their contributions to our organization.

Dr. Joan Marie Knapp – Dr. Knapp received her Ph.D. at the University of Colorado at Boulder, where she subsequently taught technical writing as well as at other area universities. She was a supporting member of many local clubs and organizations as a participant and contributor.

Elinor Pollack Buchsbaum – Elinor Buchsbaum received her degree in Art History from the University of Colorado at Boulder and was a staff member in several university departments. She was an active UWC member and served as President of the University Women's Club in 1984. "Ellie" was active in many community clubs and organizations, contributing her time and expertise in their activities. She is remembered by her dear friend Sue Rapp who sent a donation to our Scholarship Fund in memory of Ellie. We appreciate her generous gift.

Historian Scrapbook

The Historian Scrapbook for 2013-14, created by our Historian Chair, Kathy Terrill, was printed in a hard-bound book and will be available at our Lecture Luncheons. Kathy can order more copies if anyone is interested. The cost will be approximately $75 each, plus shipping. If several people order these, Kathy can have them all sent to her to reduce the shipping cost. Please contact Kathy at wakaterrill@ecentral.com if you would like a copy.

Opera and Brunch Sneak Peek

Mark your calendars for Sunday, March 15, 2015, for our annual Opera Brunch, starting at 11:30 a.m. at the University Memorial Center, and followed by CU Opera's presentation of Mozart's Così fan tutte at Macky Auditorium at 2:00 p.m.

Così fan tutte (Thus Do They All, or the School for Lovers) is an Italian-language opera buffa.
