President's Message

We're off to a good start. Your board met on August 7. We had a lively discussion about the year ahead, focusing on our upcoming events: the Membership Coffee which will take place the morning of September 11 under the new big tent on the south patio of the UMC and the marvelous-sounding Lecture Luncheon series. President-Elect and Program Chair Mary Huffman has lined up a terrific group of presenters for us this year. Please read further about these events in this issue of MESSAGES.

Thoughts/goals: At the board meeting, I shared some of my club-related thinking about the upcoming academic year. We are well-positioned to continue sponsoring our great—and fun—activities, support the camaraderie that has developed, and is developing, among members and guests; and be totally welcoming of newcomers. If I consider my goals for this year, they might be that we - continue to develop, and do well, our program and interest group activities

- spread the word about our organization to increase involvement and membership
- strengthen our relationship with the University, the Boulder campus, and their various constituencies
- improve club communications and operations wherever possible
- seek to further balance our short with our long-term financial and other goals—for example, our objective of awarding scholarships with our desire to improve the health of the club's future

Our last event of 2011-12, our Honors Reception this past May, was inspiring. Val Havlick was awarded the Margaret Willard Award for her contributions as a role model for women. As one of the criterion for this award states, Val "brings honor to all women and to the University/Boulder community through her accomplishments."

Linda Blomquist received the President's Award. Rosemary Getsie's testimonial about Linda is notable: "Linda consistently demonstrates enthusiasm for, and loyalty to UWC. She readily embraces all that she is asked to do and volunteers when not asked. She attends all functions/meetings, and even under extremely challenging adverse personal circumstances, maintains an upbeat commitment to UWC."

Congratulations again to both Val and Linda--stellar members of the University Women's Club.

Thank you to the club members who have stepped up and 'gotten me started' and who have been responsive when I've called on you. Let's have a great year!

Jeannie Thompson
President 2012-13

Spotlight on Current Events Interest Group

Are you a news junky? Do you enjoy a lively discussion about events that are going on in our community, state, country, the world? Our Current Events interest group is seeking new members. We meet on the second Wednesday of the month at the home of one of our members or at the West Senior Center on Arapahoe. We talk about a subject of interest that has been selected in advance, but we're flexible if a major event shifts our attention.

During the past year our topics have ranged from Boulder County ballot issues and candidates through Healthcare reform, the Republican presidential candidates, China as a new superpower, and the middle east situation a year after "The Arab Spring." Whatever our focus, you can count on a good exchange of opinions and ideas.

This group got started two years ago and we're still a work in progress, finding the best way to choose our topics and structure our meetings. We've tried several formats and are ready to experiment with some others. One of the formats we're going to try this fall is to assign an article or group of articles for the members to read in advance, with the meeting discussion focused on the articles.

If you think this might be a great group for you, please join us. If you are tempted, but not sure, please come for one or two meetings and see what you think. We'd love to have you.

Barbara Turner (303-417-9778; golferb7@aol.com), Jyotsna Raj (303-447-8831; jyotsna.raj@colorado.edu)

New Opportunities - Start an Interest Group!

Creating a new UWC interest group takes just five participants, including a willing chair, whose duties are modest. (Having two co-chairs lessens the load further.) Currently, we are getting close to establishing a second French conversation group, a hopeful interest that surfaces nearly every year. Also, we are hoping to re-establish the snowshoeing (or winter sports) group, if a willing organizer (chair) can be found.

Another brand new interest on the horizon is American Mah Jong. If five or more members sign up, including a willing coordinator, UWC women can come together for a weekly game. Play will not be competitive, and the emphasis will be on having fun and promoting camaraderie. All levels will be welcome, including beginners. Time and place will be determined by the group.

At the Membership Coffee on September 11, sign-up sheets will be available for these possibilities as well as for the many established groups. Other ideas are always welcome too. Take a chance – try something new!

Opera Brunch Sneak Peek

Mark your calendars for Sunday March 17, 2013 for our annual Opera Brunch, starting at 11:30 a.m. at the University Memorial Center, and followed by CU's Opera presentation of Falstaff at Macky Auditorium at 2:00 p.m.

Falstaff weaves the tale of a portly, greedy knight who pledges his love to multiple married women. When the women discover his deception, they attempt revenge, involving a parade of comic characters who leave us to conclude that "Everything in the world is jest!"

Reservation forms will be printed in subsequent MESSAGES newsletters. In the meantime, if you have any questions, please contact: Pat Thompson, UWC Opera Event Chair: 303-926-4210 or stelibsco@mac.com.

Nominations Committee Needs You

Let us know if you would like to serve on the UWC Executive Board in an elected or appointed position.

Contact any of the nominating committee members with suggestions for leadership: Virginia Stringi, Kathy Randall, Karen Diamond, Mary Anna Dunn or Ami Sadler to volunteer yourself or to suggest other UWC members to serve on the board.

Service Opportunities

Citizen Ranger Corps – Boulder County

Boulder County Seeks Volunteers to join the Citizen Ranger Corps

Do you enjoy spending time outdoors on the trails? If so, consider volunteering with the Citizen Ranger Corps for Boulder County Parks and Open Space.

Volunteers are welcome to hike, bike, or ride a horse while exploring some of Boulder County's most scenic open spaces while providing park visitors with information about cultural and natural history, recreational opportunities, facilities, and regulations. Volunteers will also be trained to lead and assist staff with work projects, visitor studies, community outreach and education, and wellness hikes.

In preparation for your duties, volunteers attend at least six out of eight monthly academy trainings. Trainings include wildlife forensics, winter survival training, visitor studies research, principles of education and outreach, emergency large animal evacuation center training, and more.

If you would like to be a part of an important volunteer corps that is making a difference in Boulder County this program is for you. Whether you want to help by enhancing the visitor experience in our beautiful parks or are considering a career in natural resources, please consider applying today.

This year's monthly trainings take place the first Saturday of every month from October to May. In addition, volunteers are required to patrol at least 24 hours in a calendar year and participate in four special assignments. The application deadline is Saturday, September 15.

For more information and an application, contact Michelle Bowie at mbowie@bouldercounty.org or 303-678-6219.

Membership Renewal

Dues. It's that time of year again. We hope you are all filling out a membership form and renewing your membership in UWC for the 2012-2013 year. This year the dues are again a big bargain at the same $30 of previous years.

Directory Due Date. The due date for inclusion in the UWC Directory has been changed this year and is now October 15, somewhat earlier than past years to provide time printing. The Directories will be distributed at the November luncheon or mailed to those who do not attend in November. A membership form is included in MESSAGES and available for printing (page 9). Please fill out this form and include it with your dues.

Benefits. Benefits for UWC members include: 1) a CU email account; 2) a CU guest BuffOne card, which provides library borrowing privileges and option to apply cash which can be used for copy machines and discounted meals at Center for Community (cost $5 per year); and a free library card (without a BuffOne card) for borrowing books. Please contact Kathleen Salzberg (303-499-3128; kathleen.salzberg@colorado.edu) if interested in any of these benefits.

Donations. Since 1982, the UWC has provided more than $139,000 in scholarship to nontraditional CU-Boulder students. Your donation supports this most important project. This is a good time of year to be thinking ahead about scholarships and including a donation for the UWC scholarship recipients along with your dues if you are able to do so. The names of those donating to the scholarship fund will be published in MESSAGES monthly as they come in.

We hope to receive your renewal in the very near future and look forward to seeing you at UWC functions this year.

Beth Rauch, UWC Membership Chair

Advertising Opportunity in the UWC Directory

Our University Women's Club Directory is a very good way to effectively advertise and at the same time make a direct contribution to the UWC scholarship fund at the University of Colorado Boulder.

Advertising in the UWC Directory/Handbook is open to anyone who owns or would like to promote a business while making a donation to the club, receiving recognition for the donation, and advertising in the directory. There are $100 and $50 levels for placing ads in the UWC Handbook/Directory. At the $100 level, a half page ad is placed; at the $50 level, a quarter page ad is placed. Both levels receive mention in the UWC newsletter, MESSAGES.

Please consider this or encourage someone you know or a business you frequent to participate. To place an advertisement, please contact Diana King (303-530-1860; diana_s_king@yahoo.com). All Sponsorship Ad donations go toward raising funds for scholarships at the University of Colorado Boulder. Please submit your Sponsorship Ad information by October 15, 2012.

President's Message

I'd like to do two things in my message this month: 1) Give you a brief update on some of the activities of your Board and 2) Talk about a volunteer program sponsored by the CU System to benefit the university and inform citizens--the CU Advocates program.

I want to let you know about the existence of this wonderful service opportunity and to urge you to get involved, if you aren't already. I believe that we, as members of the UWC, are uniquely qualified to take on this role. Being an 'advocate' will keep you informed about what's going on with CU and higher ed, and it will also afford you opportunities to be further involved, if you wish. As examples, I find real value in the emails that I receive getting first-hand information and learning more fully about the pressing issues facing the university. I've also joined others as we've gone down to the state Capitol on CU's behalf.

1) Update on Board Activities:

- Thanks go to Karon Johnson, with some help from Carol Etges, for putting out a terrific first/September issue of MESSAGES. I think you will agree with me that was wonderful. (No doubt this issue is, as well.)
- Our Fall Member Coffee was September 11. It was a fine opportunity to connect with friends, join Interest Groups, renew your Membership, and sign up for our wonderful Lecture Luncheon series. Mary Anna Dunn and Mary Huffman, along with AD Chesley (and others), have been hard at work planning, and putting in place, these fine events.
- The board is working on an initiative to see if we can better streamline the functioning of board operations and communications. Diana King, one of our computer gurus, is spearheading this initiative for us. You will likely hear more about this concept in the future.
- One of our board members has suggested that, when we email one another or put out 'mass' emails, we begin the Subject Line with "UWC. . ." That way, folks won't delete the email if they are unfamiliar with the name of the sender, which has sometimes been the case. I've been trying to remember to apply this procedure myself--seems a good practice.
- I think we're off to a good start to the year with lots of great things planned.

2) CU Advocates. Its predecessor, the Ambassadors program was launched ten years ago by President Hoffman—it subsequently transitioned into the Advocates program. Those who were signed on to be 'ambassadors' defaulted to becoming a CU Advocate unless they specified otherwise. Michele McKinney, CU's External Affairs and Advocacy Director, gave me the following information, which I've modified and shortened (with her permission). See next page for CU Advocates....

CU Advocates Program invites volunteers to promote University

Members spread message of CU's value, challenges across Colorado, and beyond

Have you wanted to meet or write to your elected official about critical legislative matters to CU? Have you thought about inviting a CU faculty expert to speak at a community forum on important topics? Have you thought about hosting a gathering in your community on the importance of higher education? CU Advocates, a University of Colorado program launched in the fall of 2011, educates and engages a network of individuals who care about the University of Colorado and want to get involved to promote CU's contributions around the state with elected officials, the media, and business and civic communities in Colorado.

The foundation of the program, an initiative of the Office of the President, is a network of educated, engaged and active volunteers who value the CU campuses and are willing to promote their educational, research and economic contributions. They stay informed on advocacy activities and issues and help ensure that CU's voice is heard in our communities and throughout Colorado, in the state Capitol, and in Washington, D.C.--often through social media channels and special events. The program is aligned with CU's operations in alumni relations, fundraising, government relations, admissions and campus outreach to find and develop opportunities to connect more people with the campuses.

Advocacy tools and information are housed on the website for advocates to use in communicating CU's contributions, opportunities and challenges. Sharing your story of CU's importance to Colorado can help put a face on the university and will provide compelling evidence for state investment in higher education.

The program draws on university supporters from many communities, including CU students, alumni, parents, faculty, staff, donors, and business and community leaders. They are asked to promote the university but also will have the opportunity to become more engaged with CU through volunteering, recommending students, hosting events, mentoring, speaking engagements, contacting elected officials and touring the campuses.

CU Advocates also receive invitations to special advocacy-only events as well as complimentary tickets to campus activities including sporting events. New members receive a welcome packet including an advocacy guide, CU pin, luggage tags and coupons for discounts on CU apparel.

"CU Advocates will be encouraged to share their CU story with their community and on the program's website, said Michele McKinney. "Perhaps a professor enlightened a student to discover a career path, or grandsons and granddaughters enrolled at a CU campus are becoming happy and successful young adults. Maybe a CU physician saved a loved one's life. These are the stories that define CU. By sharing these stories, we bring to life the value of our campuses."

It takes less than three minutes to join CU Advocates and to be on your way to making a difference. Please go to: www.cu.edu/cuadvocates or call 303.860.5622.

The Use of Club Directory Information....

....from Jeannie Thompson

Please review this reminder: The Club has a policy about the use of Directory information. Recently, we've received a number of requests to use our Directory information to notify members of outside events. Some of these events center around divisive issues and some don't. To the UWC, however, the purpose doesn't matter. Article VI, Section 1 of our Constitution states, "The UWC membership list may not be used for commercial solicitation, political activities, or ideological purposes without the expressed consent of the Executive Board of the UWC."

As much as we want to be good citizens of the community, we can't use our communication tools as a Community Bulletin Board. There are numerous logistical, as well as ideological, reasons why this is the case. Also, please remember that our printed materials, including MESSAGES, are primarily intended for the use of current and prospective members. Please, let's respect our members' privacy in all that we do. Thank you.

Nominations Committee Needs You!

Let us know if you would like to serve on the UWC Executive Board in an elected or appointed position.

Contact any of the nominating committee members with suggestions for leadership: Virginia Stringi, Kathy Randall, Karen Diamond, Mary Anna Dunn or Ami Sadler to volunteer yourself or to suggest other UWC members to serve on the board.

Opera Brunch Sneak Peek...

Mark your calendars for Sunday March 17, 2013 for our annual Opera Brunch, starting at 11:30 a.m. at the University Memorial Center, and followed by CU's Opera presentation of Falstaff at Macky Auditorium at 2:00 p.m.

Falstaff weaves the tale of a portly, greedy knight who pledges his love to multiple married women. When the women discover his deception, they attempt revenge, involving a parade of comic characters who leave us to conclude that "Everything in the world is jest!"

Reservation forms will be printed in subsequent MESSAGES newsletters. In the meantime, if you have any questions, please contact: Pat Thompson, UWC Opera Event Chair: 303-926-4210 or stelibsco@mac.com.

UWC Awards....

The University Women's Club Scholarship

The University Women's Club established a scholarship fund in 1982 to help older students complete their degrees. Recipients must be at least 24 years of age and still working on their baccalaureate degree. Because they are older, they often face the difficult task of combining study with family and job responsibilities, and the UWC scholarship often can help them reduce their work responsibilities and concentrate on their education. The awards range from $1,000 to $4,000. Funds come from individual donations and an endowment established to help support the scholarships. As of 2012, $139,000 has been awarded to 97 students.

Recipients are chosen based on their financial need, their GPA, their service, their initiative, and their leadership. Scholarship Committee members read all the applications carefully and compare and discuss their ratings before deciding. Scholarship winners are honored guests at the University Women's Club Annual Spring Luncheon which this year is April 16, 2013.

The 2011-12 Scholarship Committee consisted of Charlotte Corbridge, Jill Grubb, Pat Hagerty, Frieda Holley, Regina Macy, and Meg Preo. Frieda Holley served as chair. Most members will be continuing through 2012-13, but if you are interested in serving on the committee, especially in being chair, please contact Frieda Holley.

Margaret Willard Award

Margaret Willard began her career at CU as an English Instructor, wife of an history professor, and became the first president of the Faculty Wives' Club which has evolved into a more encompassing group, our University Women's Club. Though the original group liked to chat and sip tea, they grew in involvement in philanthropic matters. According to Sylvia Pettem, a Boulder local historian, these included providing eye-glasses and books to needy students, milk funds for schools, implementing student loans, and more.

The social aspects of their lives turned more and more to helping others as the world progressed through the Great Depression and World War 2. By 1957, they added fund raising and expanded the philanthropic work by providing financial scholarships for women, non-traditional females, who would not otherwise have been able to continue their education. We continue this tradition and recently have included men for scholarship consideration. Now UWC has grown to include interest and service groups and accept all women whether they have a CU association or not.

Since 1993, in May, at the Honors Reception, we present the Margaret Willard to a woman or women who have exemplified the traits of our predecessors, and in doing so honor all women. Past recipients have included Patricia Limerick, Val Havlick, Carlen Penfold, Ruth M. Wright, Claudine Garby, and Ceal Barry. All our honorees are exemplary role models who exercise initiative in their endeavors and in doing so bring honor to all women and to our University.

Please submit a nomination (form on page 10) by March 7, 2013.

UWC Scholars

Diane M. Bunch, an accounting major, attended the University of California at Riverside before deciding to stay at home with her children. During that time, she and her husband started a successful business constructing a giant bubble maker, and that started her interest in business and entrepreneurship. She brings substantial business experience to her classes having worked at Big Lots in New Mexico, where as store manager, she took over an underperforming store and it became the highest volume store in the state. Her work experience helped the two CU Group Project Management teams, of which she was a member, win first place in university competitions.

Stephanie Rae Schafer, an English and Studio Arts major, attended Front Range Community College and UC Denver. She is interested in digital painting and since the summer of 2010 she has created and maintained a digital webcomic called Dictionary Girl that can be found at <http://dictionarygirl.net/>. She works at CU's Office of Information Technology as a student technician and for more than two years has participated in the unit's hiring process. Noting that there were few female employees, she took some of her concerns about institutional barriers to her supervisor, who subsequently addressed many of the issues. She was pleased that she was able to effect a change and hopes to continue supporting women in technology.

Grazina Dagyte, an economics major, emigrated from Lithuania when she was 21. Grazina worked as a Personal Banker at Wells Fargo Northglenn branch where she received two top branch banker awards and she also worked as a translator/interpreter of Lithuanian and Russian at the Justice Information Center, providing interpretations during criminal and civil proceedings. Recently employed by Chase Bank, Grazina was recognized as a Top Assistant Manager in Colorado and the West. Grazina is the single mother of a six-year old son and is active in the Lithuanian American Community of Colorado, volunteering as treasurer, providing financial education to members, and teaching Lithuanian at a Lithuanian school in Denver.

Ryan George Rasmussen, a history and political science major, graduated from Front Range Community College. While at Front Range he was founder and president of Students for Sustainability, a student club dedicated to raising awareness of sustainability and environmental issues. He was also President of Phi Theta Kappa, an International Honor Society, which during his tenure, organized an educational and service event "Floods in Pakistan" which resulted in the chapter receiving a "Distinguished Chapter" award at the International Convention. A silent auction during the event raised enough money to rebuild a school in Pakistan.

Advertising Opportunity in the UWC Directory

Our University Women's Club Directory is a very good way to effectively advertise and at the same time make a direct contribution to the UWC scholarship fund at the University of Colorado Boulder.

Advertising in the UWC Directory/Handbook is open to anyone who owns or would like to promote a business while making a donation to the club, receiving recognition for the donation, and advertising in the directory. There are $100 and $50 levels for placing ads in the UWC Handbook/Directory. At the $100 level, a half page ad is placed; at the $50 level, a quarter page ad is placed. Both levels receive mention in the UWC newsletter, MESSAGES.

Please consider this or encourage someone you know or a business you frequent to participate. To place an advertisement, please contact Diana King (303-530-1860; diana_s_king@yahoo.com). All Sponsorship Ad donations go toward raising funds for scholarships at the University of Colorado Boulder. Please submit your Sponsorship Ad information by October 15, 2012.

President's Message

As the school year moves into full swing and fall is upon us, we really get into our University Women's Club activities. Interest Groups ramp up, the Lecture Luncheon series has begun, and we're involved at many levels with our club. We're engaged and optimistic.

I hope you avail yourselves of all possibilities for participation, both with the UWC and with CU. Last month, I wrote about the CU Advocates program which can provide us with information about the University and give avenues for our involvement. Recently, advocate members have received emails discussing such wide-ranging issues as the state budget, guns on campus, and the Ward Churchill Supreme Court decision. We've also learned more about a wonderful program at CU Denver's downtown campus, "Boots to Suits," which helps prepare students fresh out of the military to transition into the private sector and the business world.

Some general thoughts:

- The UWC website (boulderuwc.org) is up and running with current information. Please check it out. Kudos to Carol Etges, who put it together for us again this year.
- We encourage those interested in being on the board in the future to get involved on a committee. This connection, as well as being observant of officer responsibilities, can assist in getting a sense of the scope of the office in which you might be interested. A potential board member might also wish to visit a board meeting. If, during the year, your interest is there for the future, please express it to Mary Huffman, our President-Elect.

- This year's slate of officers is now complete. Connie Pringle has been elected by the board to be our Treasurer-Elect. We are fortunate to have this experienced woman step forward for this important position.

- Your board strives to enhance membership benefits for each member. Activities and interest areas are continually assessed and modified, and we look at our processes on an ongoing basis as we consider the composition of our membership now and in the future.

Some thoughts about money:

- It's important for us all to remember that part of the dues we pay and donations that we make go directly to support UWC scholarships. Funds from the CU Foundation's UWC Endowment fund combine with the monies that we raise throughout the year from dues and donations to provide the wonderful support that we give to our non-traditional scholarship students. I urge you to be generous when it comes to making donations to the UWC.
- A healthy endowment helps guarantee the club's future. Because, with time, the value of money erodes, we must, as an organization, be vigilant in evaluating and employing the steps necessary to guarantee that our endowment grows, while tending to our desire to provide annual scholarship assistance. (see page 7 for the cost of attending CU this year).

Walking across the Boulder campus, as I do quite often, I see some students studying on the Quad in front of Norlin Library; others are tossing a Frisbee. Several students have put up some flat nylon webbing between two trees and are doing some 'slacklining' (I had to look that one up after asking a student what he was doing), and a group is sitting on the lawn over by Old Main deep in discussion with their professor. There is a lot to see and do on campus; I urge you to take it all in and remember one reason that we're a part of our club.

Thanksgiving is just around the corner. I certainly have a lot to be thankful for and hope that you do, too. I wish you all a very happy holiday.

Jeannie

Interest Group Updates

French Conversation 2 has joined the grid! Also, Snowshoeing has acquired its organizers and is now in operation—when the snow season starts, that is. (See grid)

Bonjour

Another new group is in the process of forming: Mah Jong. A few members are giving it a try, with the help of a UWC member who is willing to teach beginners to play. If you're interested and not yet on that list, please email or call Mary Anna Dunn (dunn.maryanna@gmail.com or 303-530-0184).

A second Beginning Spanish group was nearly launched but didn't quite come together. In the process we discovered a prospective Spanish instructor for future reference. We can always try again.

Additional Interest Group Ideas

At the Membership Coffee we invited everyone to suggest new ideas for interest groups; the UWC membership form includes a space for other suggestions as well. Here are ideas recently submitted, some of them by more than one individual:

- Art – life class, sketching, watercolor
- Canasta (instructor/participant available)
- Creative writing – memoir, poetry, prose
- German conversation
- Golf
- Internet help
- Kayaking
- Photography
- Travel (beyond local)
- Weight training
- Yoga for seniors

How to start a new Interest Group

When at least five women are interested in forming a group, and when one or two are willing to chair/co-chair the group, it can be formalized. Group members themselves define their preferred meeting frequency, time, and location. Sometimes a special resource has to be discovered or recruited, such as an instructor or special equipment. Mary Anna Dunn assists by helping prospective participants to connect with each other and sometimes by helping them discover other resources. When all elements are ready, Mary Anna posts the new group in the monthly listing in MESSAGES. Then it's official!

If one or more of the new ideas above intrigue you (and you haven't already submitted the suggestion), contact Mary Anna so that she can put you in touch with others with the same interests.

Margaret Willard Award

Margaret Willard began her career at CU as an English Instructor, wife of an history professor, and became the first president of the Faculty Wives' Club which has evolved into a more encompassing group, our University Women's Club. Though the original group liked to chat and sip tea, they grew in involvement in philanthropic matters. According to Sylvia Pettem, a Boulder local historian, these included providing eye-glasses and books to needy students, milk funds for schools, implementing student loans, and more.

The social aspects of their lives turned more and more to helping others as the world progressed through the Great Depression and World War 2. By 1957, they added fund raising and expanded the philanthropic work by providing financial scholarships for women, non-traditional females, who would not otherwise have been able to continue their education.

We continue this tradition and recently have included men for scholarship consideration. Now UWC has grown to include interest and service groups and accept all women whether they have a CU association or not.

Since 1993, in May, at the Honors Reception, we present the Margaret Willard to a woman or women who have exemplified the traits of our predecessors, and in doing so honor all women. Past recipients have included Patricia Limerick, Val Havlick, Carlen Penfold, Ruth M. Wright, Claudine Garby, and Ceal Barry. All our honorees are exemplary role models who exercise initiative in their endeavors and in doing so bring honor to all women and to our University.

Please submit a nomination (form on page 9) by March 7, 2013.

President's Message

I'm starting this column within two hours of the end of our FINE New Member Wine & Cheese at our house. The event was well attended by both new members and those on the board. Spirits were high and conversations flowed. I think all of us on the board were REALLY impressed to hear the backgrounds and experiences of those new to the organization. Quite an impressive group of women. As with the beginning of every school year, the club members look forward to getting to know one another better.

I was pleased a day after the event to find in my email over a dozen messages from both board and new members, reflecting on the fine time that we had on the 4th and discussing some of what they experienced.

I want to thank everyone for coming and to especially thank the board members who contributed food, good humor and camaraderie. I especially want to thank Joyce Spencer, our New Member chair, for her communications with all invitees and her organization of the afternoon. Diana King and AD Chesley were also on hand to provide the new Directory (yummy bright yellow!) and name tags. (They also ID'ed our 'problem bird' outside the front of our house—that's another story.)

I'd like to reflect a bit here about a terrific recent occasion on campus—the Boulder Chancellor's State of the Campus Address 2012 which was delivered on October 16. The UMC Ballroom was packed. In case you were not in attendance, I urge you to read the full transcript of Chancellor Phil DiStefano's speech on his website: <http://chancellor.colorado.edu>. It's worth taking the time to review because it is rich in information about the current status of the campus, the challenges that we face and what is hoped for in the future.

Some Highlights from the Boulder Chancellor's State of the Campus Address:

- This is a campus rich in "life-changing" research—our faculty and staff earned $380M in sponsored research last year.
- Economic recovery is slow and state funding is now ~2.5% of our budget; it is anticipated to go to 0% in 3-5 years.
- There are "three elements that are critical to the university and its success"—areas that are a current focus for the campus and were discussed in depth –
 - ◊ Enhancing the experience of ALL of our students
 - ◊ Establishing a diversified funding model
 - ◊ Building and protecting our reputation
- Five years after the launch of Flagship 2030, our Boulder campus strategic plan, we see significant progress. (Chancellor DiStefano's address outlines many accomplishments.)
- "Coming together" and combining efforts—collaboration across the campus(es)—is crucial.

Complete details are in the report. I encourage you to read it.

After returning to the United States, he became a newspaper reporter in his hometown, Des Moines, Iowa, winning several statewide awards in journalism. John then moved to Boulder, Colorado, and helped launch GroundFloor Media, now one of the state's largest public relations firms. Welcome New Members - Wine & Cheese Reception

Of the 38 new UWC members as of November 1, 17 were able to attend the New Members Wine and Cheese Reception at the lovely home of our president, Jeannie Thompson, on November 4. Also present were 14 Board of Directors members who brought delicious appetizers and desserts.

After most of the new members had arrived and had a chance to view the Flatirons from the back porch, the members of the board briefly introduced themselves. Those present were given the newly published Membership Handbook and Directory - thanks Diana King. New members were reminded that all important information is on the UWC website <http://boulderuwc.org>.

We gathered downstairs to hear each new member give a short talk about her background and interest in Boulder and the UWC.

Please try to welcome our new members. At our luncheons, they wear specially marked name tags.

February Lecture Luncheon

Transforming Our Thoughts is Just One Thought Away

Lisa Wimberger

Tuesday, February 12, 2013, 11:30 a.m.
University Memorial Center; Room 235

Reservations and payment due February 5

Neuroscience is one of many fields that is rapidly changing. Lisa shares her experiences of working with first responders from the CIA, FBI, Secret Service, and law enforcement agencies all over the USA to give us all tools to reprogram our own thoughts using programs that combine neuroscience principles with mindfulness and energetic modalities. She will also share various ways to keep our brains healthy.

Lisa holds a Masters Degree in Education from the University of Stonybrook, NY and a Foundations Certification in NeuroLeadership. She is a private healing practitioner, teaching clients who suffer from stress disorders. She began her meditation practice at age 12. Hit by lightning at age 15, and clinically dead on multiple occasions, Lisa uses her traumatic experience as a vehicle for transformation. Additionally, Lisa's services are sought on a national level by individuals in law enforcement looking to find a new way to navigate through their stress patterns.

Lisa is the author of New Beliefs, New Brain. She is the founder of the Neurosculpting Institute in Boulder. Books will be available for sale at the luncheon.

President's Message

The University of Colorado!

When many of us think of the University of Colorado (CU), we think mostly, or only, of the Boulder campus. This is perhaps logical in that we live in Boulder and we are exposed to this campus through many means, such as music, theater and dance and athletic events. Many women in the UWC also audit courses so they experience, first hand, the fine academic offerings available and the excitement of being back in the classroom. It is a varied and wonderful place—the one with which we are likely most familiar.

But the university is an institution of four campuses, each quite distinct in its character. With this column, Part I, I'm only going to briefly touch on two of them—our Denver Campus and the Colorado Springs Campus. I'll discuss the CU Anschutz Medical and Boulder campuses in future columns. What I present here and the next two months is by no means comprehensive in content—it's mostly what is top of mind for me; it's my snap shot perspective. I hope it serves to give you a better 'flavor' of the campuses that make up our University of Colorado.

The Denver Campus (UC Denver), with which some of you are familiar, is in the heart of downtown and has grown and prospered over recent years, serving both traditional and non-traditional degree and non-degree students who live both on and off campus. Diversity in the student body abounds. This campus offers a comprehensive education to its students, at all degree levels, through numerous programs.

- In the past couple of years, the new Business School building on Lawrence has opened, offering a fine facility and enhancing educational offerings in the campus neighborhood. This building houses the new and unique JPMorgan Center for Commodities. Areas of finance, public policy and economics are studied here, and the trading floor affords students first-hand experience in the commodities markets.
- The campus' proximity to local businesses, non-profit organizations and government makes it an ideal blend of the academic with the practical, allowing internship and class project opportunities, in all disciplines, for engaged students.
- A new Science Building on the Auraria campus (at Speer and Lawrence) is a collaborative effort between UC-Denver, Metro State and the CC of Denver. It's as beautiful as it is functional.
- The Office of Veteran Student Services supports military students and those making the transition into the private sector. (Please note my mention of the Boots to Suits program in a prior column.

The Colorado Springs Campus (UCCS) has grown dramatically over the last decade—to almost 10,000 on-campus students. New programs abound, and new academic buildings and residence halls have proliferated at an astonishing rate at this expanding and beautiful institution (check out their website). Degrees at all levels are offered; you feel the vitality when on campus. UCCS prides itself on its smaller class sizes and its involvement with the community. The school has close ties with the US Olympic operation as well as military entities in the region (and is considered very 'military-friendly').

- It touts some unique programs such as geropsychology, sports and professional golf management, programs that blend engineering and business (such as the Bachelor of Innovation), Homeland Security, and it has traditionally strong programs in nursing and public affairs.
- The campus recently opened the Heller Center for Arts & Humanities on homesteaded land, with a beautiful adobe house and surrounding structures, adjacent to the UCCS campus on Austin Bluffs. The property came to the university from the estate of artist Larry and Dot Heller. It is a venue for all sorts of events related to the campus. In addition to the Heller Center, there is a wonderful university art gallery—GOCA (Galleries of Contemporary Art)--on campus.
- UCCS has an active athletic program and, while the Boulder campus has Ralphie, they also have a live mascot named Clyde—a 165 pound rescued mountain lion that came from Montana. (He lives off-campus!)
- The UCCS Chancellor's goal is to make her campus 'the premier regional university in the country.' The school has a tremendous positive economic impact on the region.

Part II TO BE CONTINUED in the next/March edition of MESSAGES. . .

Temple of a Thousand Faces

John Shors

Tuesday, March 12, 2013, 11:30 a.m.
University Memorial Center; Room 235

John is a local author of historical fiction. His stories are set in exotic locations such as Vietnam, Cambodia, Hindustan, and the South Pacific. He is the bestselling author of Beneath a Marble Sky, Cross Currents, Dragon House, and Beside a Burning Sea. His newest book, Temple of a Thousand Faces, which is set in Angor Wat, Cambodia has just been released.

After graduating from Colorado College, John lived for several years in Kyoto, Japan, where he taught English. On a shoestring budget, he later trekked across Asia, visiting ten countries and climbing the Himalayas. After returning to the United States, he became a newspaper reporter in his hometown, Des Moines, Iowa, winning several statewide awards in journalism. John then moved to Boulder, Colorado, and helped launch GroundFloor Media, one of the state's largest public relations firms.

Now a full-time novelist, John spends his days writing and going on family outings with his wife, Allison, and their two young children, Sophie and Jack. Don't miss meeting this master storyteller. John will have books available for sale and signing.

President's Message

The University of Colorado-Anschutz

Last month, I talked a bit about the University of Colorado Denver Campus and the Colorado Springs Campus. Below is Part II of my discussion, again from my perspective, of the CU Anschutz Medical Campus.

The CU Anschutz Medical Campus, located on the site of the old Fitzsimons Army Medical Center, has been built from scratch with the exception of the iconic Building 500 (built in 1941) which still stands. The campus has grown tremendously over recent years, outpacing the goals for expansion that were laid out for it in the early part of the last decade. New buildings and facilities abound. If you've not been down there, I'd suggest that you take the opportunity to drive through the campus and visit—astonishing. I'm going to hit here on some of the parts of the campus with which I'm most familiar and which may have special interest to our membership. If you visit, you will probably find areas that I've not included here—the place is just so dynamic.

Recently, for the second straight year, the University of Colorado Hospital (UCH) was named the highest-performing academic hospital in the nation for delivering quality healthcare by the University Health System Consortium.

Known for the fact that much of what happens at this campus is "lab bench to bedside" –tremendous advances are being made here in the areas of cancer, cardiovascular care, and stem cell research. The Cancer Center offers top notch care and access to clinical trials that can greatly benefit outcomes. The Cardiac and Vascular Center is known for fine cardiovascular care and is nationally recognized for its cardiology and cardiac surgery programs. The Gates Center for Regenerative Medicine and Stem Cell Research houses a dynamic group of researchers and practitioners who are working on cures for many diseases and are also focusing on establishing spin-off companies to benefit science, the university, and society.

The Executive Health Program is something with which you might want to be familiar. Screenings are done down at the campus in one day. The physical is private pay. However, if you continue your care there, your insurance begins immediately.

The cost is about $3,200 for the screening and may be a bit higher for men. The cost also varies a bit if you request special screening that is out of the ordinary. They do check with each patient to see if there is something of special concern, and they include that screening in the workup.

Many find this physical well worth the cost. I have a friend whose husband is now receiving the proper cardiac care, and has dramatically reduced his risk, as a result of the screening he received there. Please contact Logan Windram at 720-848-2460 or Sarah Kabat at 720-848-2460 if you wish to discuss the possibility of participation further.

The University of Colorado Eye Center is located in the Rocky Mountain Lions Eye Institute (RMLEI) building. They specialize in diagnosis and treatment of vision-threatening eye diseases but can provide routine services, as well.

The University of Colorado Depression Center is a part of the National Network of Depression Centers. It's dedicated to benefitting the lives of people with depression and mood disorders. The center encompasses clinical, research, community and education components. It was established at Anschutz in 2008 with the generous support of Vail resident George Wieggers.

The campus also houses fine schools of dental medicine, nursing, pharmacy and a new Colorado School of Public Health—a joint venture of CU, CSU and Northern Colorado.

There are close affiliations with other institutions at the Anschutz campus—Children's Hospital Colorado (CHC), Denver Veterans Administration Hospital (VA), Denver Health Hospital (DH), and the Lions Eye Institute mentioned above.

President Benson has worked tirelessly and effectively to get appropriate transportation patterns into, and signage related to, this magnificent campus.

Part III (the final part) TO BE CONTINUED in the next/ April edition of Messages. . .

Jeannie Thompson, President UWC

President's Message

Last month, I talked a bit about the CU Anschutz Medical Campus. Below is (the final) Part III of my discussion, again from my perspective, of the University of Colorado Boulder campus.

CU-Boulder is the flagship institution for the state; its comprehensiveness is recognized by inclusion in the Association of American Universities (AAU)—an organization of 62 prominent public and private research universities in the US and Canada. As I mentioned last month, Boulder is the campus with which we're all probably most familiar.

The College of Music offers an abundance of 'listening' (and visual) opportunities. The Artist Series goes from fall thru spring and is varied in the programs it brings on campus. The resident Takacs Quartet is so popular that it's hard to obtain tickets. The Jazz program prospers with both Ensembles (bigger band) and Combos performances. And the free Faculty Tuesday concerts during the school year in the evenings, featuring Boulder faculty, are often not to be missed.

Boulder's Museum of Natural History on campus is a gem. My young grandkids love it and the special weekend children's programs that they have. Their director, Patrick Kociolek, is a very creative fellow. He came to us from the California Academy of Sciences where he led their construction of a marvelous Renzo Piano building.

The Conference on World Affairs has been a springtime highlight on campus for decades. Each year 'the conference' hosts over 100 international speakers and conducts over 200 sessions during the week-long event. Panelists are unpaid, are a part of 5-7 panel sessions over the week, and stay with local 'housers.' There is much interaction among themselves and with the community. Moderators of the many panels (on all sorts of topics) come from the Boulder area.

The Center of the American West is within the College of Arts & Sciences. It "takes as its mission the creation of forums for the respectful exchange of ideas and perspectives in the pursuit of solutions to the regions difficulties." It sponsors important series and speakers for the community on such topics as the Secretaries of the Interior, Modern Indian Identity, our lands, energy needs, and water. Patty Limerick, a historian and recipient of a MacArthur Fellowship, leads the Center and provides an opportunity for it to take part in important regional and national dialogues.

Certainly, one of our claims to fame is the relationship that the campus has to the national labs in/around Boulder. Many members of the UWC have close associations with these entities—NCAR, NIST and NOAA. NREL is nearby in Golden, CO. (I'll let you look up their full names on your own.) The scientists in these labs frequently have joint appointments at the university. The labs provide rich experiences for faculty and graduate students and are a source of employment for graduates.

There are now 11 separate research institutes on campus which deal in every scientific area imaginable—the environment; behavioral genetics; behavioral and cognitive science; atmospheric and space physics; standards and technology; renewable and sustainable energy; biotechnology; and technology, learning and society. These research institutes account for over half of the sponsored research funding coming to the campus annually—last year that amount was ~$380M (over $800M for the system as a whole).

The campus is a top provider of Peace Corps volunteers among all US colleges and universities. CU-Boulder students are an adventurous bunch.

The fact that we are members in the UWC entitles us to purchase a Buff OneCard that lets us eat in university dining services facilities, at a discount, after we 'put' money on the card—to me, that means the UMC cafeteria or C4C (the Center for Community, which has terrific food). The card also entitles us to use the Norlin Library on site (but not off-campus remotely). It is tied to a CU email account, which we can use or not, as we choose. Interested members should contact Kathleen Salzberg. UWC members are 'sponsored' for a year at a time. Cards need to be renewed annually for $5, and Kathleen needs to notify OIT and verify that the interested person is still a member, and thus eligible for the associated email account and related privileges, by October 31 each year. (There may have been a statement in an earlier issue of MESSAGES regarding this option, as well.)

There is an emphasis on all four of our campuses on being collaborative across units, and it's a goal for the system to work together--across campuses. A good example here is biotech, where all four campuses are involved in complementary ways in this initiative. Headquartered in Boulder at the BioFrontiers Institute on the East Campus, what happens on each campus and as a composite has much importance for the university, the region, the state and our nation.

It's convenient to look at what fundamentally happens on all of the campuses, which are varied and diverse, as consisting of four pillars—Learning & Teaching, Discovery & Innovation, Community & Culture, and Health & Wellness. They represent the central things that are happening at CU--programs can fit into single or multiples of these categories. This was the thinking about the university that evolved as the staff of the CU Foundation was planning the Creating Futures system-wide capital campaign which is currently in progress.

It's important for us to remember that the overall annual economic impact of the University of Colorado on the state of Colorado is over $5B. And new companies are constantly being established based on CU faculty discoveries. Our university is a pretty special place.

Honors Tea ...and Margaret Willard

Margaret Willard began her career at CU as an English Instructor. The wife of a history professor, she became the first president of the Faculty Wives' Club which has evolved into a more encompassing group, our University Women's Club. Though the original group liked to chat and sip tea, they grew in involvement in philanthropic matters.

According to Sylvia Pettem, local historian, these included providing eye-glasses and books to needy students, milk funds for schools, implementing a student loan program, and more. The social aspects of the Faculty Wives turned more and more to helping others as the world progressed through the Great Depression and World War 2. By 1957, they added fund raising and expanded their philanthropic work by providing scholarships for women, non-traditional female students, who would not otherwise have been able to continue their education.

The current University Women's Club continues this tradition and recently included men for scholarship consideration. The UWC has grown to include interest and service groups, and has opened membership to all women whether they have a CU association or not.

Since 1993, in May at the UWC Honors Tea, we recognize a woman or women who exemplify the traits of our predecessors, and in doing so we honor all women. Past recipients have included Patricia Limerick, Val Havlick, Carlen Penfold, Ruth M. Wright, Claudine Garby, and Ceal Barry. All our honorees are exemplary role models who demonstrate great initiative in their endeavors, and in doing so, bring honor to all women and to the University of Colorado.

Her vision, direction, and support helped create the multi-discipline ATLAS Center, which serves students and the community through innovative art, technology, and learning opportunities.

She has provided invaluable leadership and support to multiple boards including University of Colorado Foundation, Women's Foundation of Colorado, and College of Music Dean's Advisory Board among others. She serves as an inspiring role model to other volunteers and philanthropists.

President's Message

As my year as president of the UWC draws to a close, I reflect on the many accomplishments that we've had and want to thank the members of our wonderful board with whom I've worked this year. You have made a huge difference in the quality of programs and activities for the members, as well as the procedures, of the club.

We've worked together well and efficiently. All board members have 'dug in' and been responsive and responsible to one another and to the membership. As a board, some of what we looked at and attempted to improve thru our processes were:

- Being more welcoming of, and responsive to, visitors and new members.
- Refining club communications and operations.
- Becoming more technologically savvy thru electronic documents use by the board.
- Reevaluating, and thinking more strategically about, our endowment goals and fundraising activities.
- Keeping top of mind throughout the year that one of our key purposes is to provide scholarship assistance to CU undergraduate students with financial need.
- Attempting to get members more involved, and in tune, with the Boulder campus and the CU system thru such means as joining the CU Advocates program—my encouragement.
- Streamlining board meetings to make them move along more efficiently and effectively.
- Providing well-planned and successful activities—from our great Lecture Luncheons to our Opera Brunch, Scholarship Luncheon, and Honors Tea (the latter two which I'm sure will both be terrific); Interest Groups have flourished and remain prominent in the vitality of the UWC.

We've been mostly successful in attracting new members and encouraging their involvement. We've communicated well thru our newsletter MESSAGES and our email updates, letting members know what was in store for all of us and how they could stay in tune with the organization.

At the May 14 Honors Reception, I will hand the gavel to Mary Huffman who will lead the Club next year. Joyce Spencer will be her second in command. Mary is working to finalize the board composition for next year and putting plans into effect. I wish Mary and Joyce all of the best as they continue the fine tradition of the club. If you have any suggestions, in any area, I'm sure that these two fine women would welcome hearing from you.

It's been a JOY to work with those of you on the board as well as with the membership. Thanks to all who have been supportive of me, and the club, during the year.

UWC Scholarship...2013

Thanks to Frieda Holley, Chair, and the UWC Scholarship Committee - Charlotte Corbridge, Pat Hagerty, Betty Johnson, Meg Preo, and Kathy Randall for pouring through all the applications and awarding four CU Boulder students this year.

The 2013-14 UWC scholars are (more on the scholars in the September issue):

- Fredy Albarran: Fredy is an Environmental Design major, with an emphasis in Architecture.
- Erin Simons-Brown: Erin is an Engineering Physics major.
- Jillynne Jensen: Jillynne has a double major - English, (Creative Writing), and Sociology.
- Layne Hubbard: Layne is a Psychology major following the neuroscience track and is in the process of declaring a second major in Computer Science.

Thanks to you, the UWC awarded $17,000 to CU-Boulder students this year!

The UWC's Scholarship...History, Selection, and More...

In 1982, the University Women's Club established a scholarship fund to help nontraditional students at CU Boulder achieve their educational goals. Funds come from your individual donations. As of 2013, more than $156,000 has been awarded to 101 CU-Boulder students.

Who is eligible for a UWC scholarship?

- a CU-Boulder student, Colorado resident
- who is at least 24 years of age
- an undergraduate working toward 1st bachelor's degree
- a student who completed at least 12 semester hours at CU-Boulder with a 3.0 GPA or better
- plans to enroll full time for both semesters of the scholarship year.

How do students apply?

Students apply online. The CU computer system is sophisticated and can identify immediately if a student is eligible for our scholarship based on the above criteria. The student is invited to complete a standard application form which qualifies him/her for the UWC scholarship and any other scholarship for which he/she is eligible. Application deadline is March 1.

How does the UWC select student scholars?

The Scholarship Office provides the UWC Scholarship Committee with eligible student applications in mid-March. The Committee members review the applications and rank the students based on several criteria: financial need, initiative, leadership, and service. The amount of the award is based on the UWC budget for that fiscal year. Students are notified of their award and invited to the Scholarship Luncheon where they are recognized.

How do students receive the money we've awarded?

The UWC Treasurer transfers the scholarship funds to the CU Foundation in July and the funds are then transferred to the University and the student's account. Half of the scholarship is transferred in the fall and half in the spring. Students must be enrolled full time.

Where does the UWC get the scholarship money?

YOU! Your donations provide scholarships for CU students. Congratulations to you for increasing your donations in recent years. UWC awarded $4,000 in 2002 and $17,000 in 2013 — a 300% increase. Keep up the good work!
